

Souriau signs Genalog as a new reseller

Souriau Press Release November 2009
Hawkhurst - November 2009

Genalog, the specialist e-mech component distributor, is pleased to announce the addition of Souriau to its extensive range of connector manufacturers.

Souriau is one of the major suppliers of industrial interconnect technologies. Offering a wide array of solutions from standard to harsh environment for signal and power transmission either with copper or fiber optics technologies.

Continuous investment in R&D and independent laboratory paralleled by a strong quality commitment through ISO 9001 and ISO14001 certifications enables Souriau to give the best of leading-edge technology tailored for industrial markets.

Graham Reed, Genalog's Managing Director, said "Being a specialist design-in distributor we feel that Souriau will compliment our current range of manufacturing partners and will enable Genalog to offer a more complete interconnect solution to our customers...."

Peter Herbert, Director of Souriau UK said "I am looking forward to working with Genalog. We consider them to be a specialist reseller with the ability to work with customers in various fields and be able to offer them a solution from Souriau..."

For further information on Souriau and Genalog please go to www.genalog.com